Have you experienced....

If you can answer YES to any of these questions about your previous experience, then Nexwrx can help you.

- Failed to ask you how you wanted your site designed and sold you a website that you hate?
- Sold you a website, but it's not even close to what they promised and charged you double for it?
- Sold you a decent website, but decided to hold it ransom, threatening to shut it down if you didn't pay for monthly maintenance?
- Sold you a mediocre website, then pulled a 'Houdini', leaving you with no access or ability to make changes to it?
- Didn't provide you with training or guides, and now you have a site but no clue how to use it?

If you have experienced any of these scenarios, fear not, Nexwrx is the company you have been waiting for.

Considering a redesign?

So many companies and startups are relaunching new websites and with good reason. Technology is changing. Design trends are coming and going. Even how sites are used is changing. At times it is necessary to redesign a website.

Finally, a fair, honest, skilled and affordable, web design company who care about me.
